Modern Husband Is Exposed In California Film

"Summer Bachelors," Fox Films version of Warner Fabian's sensational novel, exposing the frailties of the modern husband, had a first showing at the California theatre yesterday.

Directed by Allan Dwan and with a cast of stars in the principal roles, including Madge Bellamy, Allan Forrest, Charles Winger and Matt Moore, this is one picture that is calculated to please every taste.

It is not often that one sees such a swift-running story as this, nor one more starred with dramatic as well as comic situations. No one should miss it who can possibly see what is one of the best entertainments of the season.

There is a light, airy insouciance to this story that flows spontaneously, infectious. The director must have imbued the cast with that spirit, for they have it in full measure; and the audience is certain to be inoculated with the same pleasant microbe.

Other features on the same program include "The Swimming Instructor," an Earle Foxe comedy; Fox's "Varieties"; "International News"; and Larry Canelo, at the organ.

FOUND LOVE

Madge Bellamy and Allan Forrest in a scene from "SUMMER BACHELORS," now being screened at the California theatre.

Barthlemess In Versatile Role At The Richmond

"The White Black Sheep," now showing at the Richmond theatre presents Dick Barthlemess in several hirsute makeups; first clean shaven; second, with a full-grown beard; and third, with a trim mustache.

The story takes him from modern London and puts him into Northern Palestine under the British protectorate where he encounters untold adventures and falls in love with an exotic Greek dancing girl.

Sidney Olcott directed the production with Patsy Ruth Miller playing the role of Zelle, the dancing girl.

Thousands of extras were used and two Arabian cities were especially built for the production, which is said to be Dick's biggest in many moons.

Other features on the same program include "Officer of the Day," an Imperial comedy; and "Prizma," the screen magazine.

Dairy Products Tariff Urged By Coolidge

(By Universal Service.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—A substantial tariff increase on dairy and farm products in order to stop "dumping" by Canadian growers was recommended to President Coolidge today by Representative Taber of New York.

"Our dairy products and crops are constant," said Taber, "whereas the Canadian have a bumper crop they dump it into the American market, underselling the American farmer."

"The tariff could be substantially raised without injuring the consumers."

Courtesy Given As Keynote Of Business Success

Ray Brouillet, well known efficiency expert, declared that courtesy was responsible for the success or failure of many businesses, in speaking before the Kiwanis club here yesterday.

"During 1924 more than 180,000 corporations in the United States lost money because of their neglect of the little details of courtesy. It is very seldom that we take time to offer thanks for the things that are done for us. We so often give a short retort instead of the word of appreciation which costs so little."

It was announced that a ladies' night would be conducted February 19 at the Berkeley country club. Visitors from every city of the bay region are expected and a wide variety of entertainment is to be offered.

A report on the recent trustee meeting and the district session at Modesto was made by Hal W. Sanders, district trustee.

Two duets in negro dialect were rendered by Rev. Frank A. Woten and Rev. M. H. Greenlee. Roy Gourley accompanied at the piano.

Grades Established On San Pablo Avenue

Grades are being established on San Pablo avenue preparatory to completing plans and specifications for paving. City Manager J. A. McVittie announced yesterday. Actual work will not be possible for some time yet, and the proposed double tracking of San Pablo by the Key System awaits definite operations.

"The work is being hurried with as much dispatch as possible," McVittie declared. "The bad weather will slow up operations for the time, but meanwhile we are drafting complete plans for the work contemplated."

TIM VAHEY TO MEET DAMPIER AT EL CERRITO

Tim Vahey, who has made a favorable impression in the boxing circles here, may have a tough time when he goes up against Eddie Dampier, the San Jose high school boy in the eight-round main event at the El Cerrito Athletic Club on Friday night.

Dampier lays claim to the fastest boy on the Pacific Coast, having recently stood up against the best with good and not so good results. He lost a close decision to Billy Alger at San Jose, but the next week he walked back and sent Bobby Burns of Oakland to the canvas for the count of ten.

Dampier has also had striking acquaintance with Hank Roberts. He met Roberts twice and held him even each time. Roberts beat "Tiger" Johnny Cline at San Jose last week.

The fans all know Vahey around here. Tim never made a bad fight. He has so far yet to taste defeat here. He beat Frankie Bray, Billy Maher, knocked out Jack Riley and won over Joe Limas.

"Cyclone" Pete Morton, a dusky scrapper of West Oakland, who on his last start here fought a draw with Jimmy West, will box Pete Meyers, the knockout king of San Francisco. Meyers is the same boy who twice stopped George Bagel at Richmond. This bout is slated for six rounds.

Four fast four round fights as follows: Mickel Brown of Richmond and Ray Walker of Oakland; Joe De Maria of Albany and Fresno Lenda of San Francisco.

Doc Limas, who has stopped the last three fighters he has faced, will fight Sailor Ansalut of Vallejo. Charlie Actis of Richmond fights Saint Romero of San Diego.

Boxing is just getting started. The holidays over fans are now set to see good boxing and if the El Cerrito boys can deliver like they did on the last card, they will have a lot of royal supporters.

Brazilian reporters have asked that fight promoters furnish protected quarters for boxing matches. The request was the result of the Rio De Janeiro boxing commission's failure to punish a fighter who struck a reporter in the face with his fist. Boys will be boys.

PULLMAN CAGE TEAM WINS IN P. A. A. GAME

The Pullman cage team took the strong Cardinal quintet down the lines by the close score of 17 to 15 in a strenuously contested game played in the Junior High School gymnasium last night. The Cardinals crept up on the score in the second half and were going strong when the gun stopped the night's contest. The lineup of the Pullman team was: forwards, Dyer, Daily, Hazeika, center, Godbury; guards, Harbieri, Cornell, Tamm, and McLaughlin. Godbury was high point man for his team with 6 baskets. The Cardinals lined up as follows: forwards, Parcheriat, McNeil, and Erickson; center, Gustarson; guards, Brown and Howard. Erickson came in as high point man with 7 buckets. ## NAMES

YOU meet Mr. Howard and Mr. Walters in a gathering. Their names are to you but two of many you hear.

A few days later you meet Mr. Howard again. And again. He becomes a friend, perhaps an intimate in your social as well as business life.

Mr. Howard's name grows to mean a lot to you. Mr. Walters is rarely seen again and soon forgotten.

In this newspaper are other names—names of advertised products. Day after day you see them. They are like old friends—to be trusted. Their names mean economy, full value and integrity.

The unadvertised products—perhaps you see one in a store—or in a friend's home. Soon the name is forgotten—a stranger about whom you know little.

Fill your medicine closet, your pantry, your wardrobe with products whose names are guarantees of their integrity—advertised products. Like intimate friends—you know what they are and will do.

Read the advertisements to know the names that are worth knowing in the market place

SUSPECT SAYS HE OPERATED IN THIS CITY

as a radio dealer. Stolen checks were cashed at radio stores in cities along the Pacific Coast.

Meanwhile, his wife, Mrs. Grace Midgley, 466 Forty-first avenue, Oakland, has been working in a department store to help support their 12 year old son. The revelation of Midgley's alleged operations came as a complete shock to her.

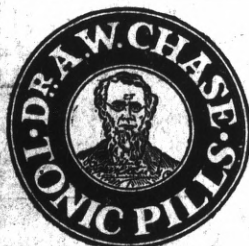

Midgley's downfall resulted from a descriptive circular recently broadcast by the postoffice department. The circular stated that the post office robber's method was to make a pretense of selling radio equipment. Then, by questioning he would learn the number of postoffice lock boxes rented by town banks. With the information thus obtained Midgley was able to force the boxes at night and rifle them of their contents.

Last Monday he attempted to cash a check for $40 in the Penny store of Watsonville. The manager became suspicious and notified the police. His arrest followed.

Midgley is declared by officers to be an ex-convict with a record of having served a prison term in Utah for forgery. He was released in 1922.

Custody Of Two Children Sought By Concord Woman

Mrs. Genevieve Bermingham, divorced wife of John J. Bermingham, Concord merchant, filed a petition in the Martinez court yesterday, directing her former husband to show cause why the interlocutory decree of divorce, granted March 9, 1926, should not be modified to permit the removal of their two children, Rita and Arnold, from Benicia to an Oakland convent.

Mrs. Bermingham, in her complaint, states that the children are too far removed for her to give them the care that they properly deserve. She also claims that Bermingham has taken the children from the convent, where they now are and has kept them out longer than convent rules allow. He has also shown himself unreasonable in agreeing on the care and custody of the children, Mrs. Bermingham alleges.

The petition filed also seeks an order directing payment by her husband of $150 monthly for the maintenance of the children. A hearing will be held in Superior Judge Alvarado's court February 14.

Ford Refused An Offer Of A Billion For Motor Works

Prentiss said after leaving the stand. "I wanted to buy it for myself," he said. "Of course no one man could buy an enterprise like that. But my firm would have formed a syndicate of banking houses to sell the securities to the public."

Henry Ford's antipathy to big bankers found vivid illustration in the "side-light" stories Prentiss from time to time volunteered.

He told of going to Detroit in 1916 and arranging with one of Ford's officials for an introduction to the motor car wizard.

"While we were sitting there," said Prentiss, "Henry Ford suddenly bobbed into the room. I was introduced."

"What do you do?" asked Mr. Ford.

"I sell bonds and stocks," was my reply. "Where?" Mr. Ford wanted to know.

"I said, 'down in Wall Street.'"

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Mr. Ford. "You're not one of those Wall Street guys."

"He took all the wind out of my sails," Prentiss laughed.

"But I proposed that he recapitalize his company on the basis of $500,000,000. I told him Hornblower and Weeks would be glad to take any part of the new stock."

"Mr. Ford laughed!"

Prentiss didn't try again for eight years. According to his testimony, he offered a billion for the business in 1924, purposing to form a syndicate to market the stock, repeated this offer, through a representative, to Edsel Ford the following year, and renewed it again "within the last thirty days."

The billion offered the Ford, like the crown tendered Caesar, was thrice refused.

The last time, Prentiss testified, he acted because of a "very persistent rumor" that the Ford family wanted to recapitalize the company. Prentiss disbelieved this, but called a Detroit associate who took it up with the Fords.

"He telephoned me in the afternoon that there was 'nothing doing' said Prentiss.

Alexander W. Gregg, twenty-seven-year-old general counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau, who is pitted against a battery of sixteen lawyers representing Senator Couzens, of Michigan, and his associates, in the case, fought the admission of his testimony, but was overruled.

Couzens and his associates sold out their minority stock in the Ford Motor company to Ford in 1919 for about $13,500 a share. To fix their taxable profits on the sale the government contrasted the stock in 1913, when it was fixed at about $9,500.

Now the government is attempting to upset the latter figure as erroneous and substitute $3,500. This would require the Couzens group to pay more than $30,000,000 in income taxes. Besides the $20,000,000 they paid on the old basis.

To prove by Prentiss that the stock was worth at least $9,500 a share in 1913, Joseph E. Davies, former Federal Trade Commission chairman and chief counsel for the Couzens group, spent half an hour propounding a hypothetical question a mile long. Its import was:

"Considering a multitude of factors then known, how much was Ford stock worth in 1913?"

And Prentiss answer was:

"$12,500."

The government spent much of the session remaining trying to "knock down" this assertion, by showing that the automobile business at that time was extra hazardous. That competition was looming up for Ford, and that Ford's "prospects" were far less brilliant than they now appear in looking back over the vista of the years.

Prentiss was asked whether his banking firm would have paid that much for the stock.

"We'd have been delighted to have the chance," was his smiling reply.

On cross-examination he insisted that his firm would have paid $37,500 a share in 1919, when Ford bought out everybody else at $13,500 a share.

Gregg intimated that the Couzens group had sold at the lower price only after they had failed to get a better one in Wall Street.

"As a credit proposition, the Ford company is the equal of the United States Steel corporation, Standard Oil of New Jersey, General Electric or General Motors," said Prentiss in backing up his high valuation.

"It is the most wonderful and remarkable business enterprise in the history of the world,"

Gregg disputed Prentiss's broad assertions about Ford credit, demanding:

"How do you know his credit is so good? He has never borrowed any money."

"That's one reason he has such good credit," Prentiss rejoined tersely.

Ford's securities were so badly wanted by all the bankers, he said, because the investing public would "eat 'em up."

"I think that is so today," he added, "and it always has been so."

"The value of Ford stock absolutely transcends all the statistics you can get on it."

"The Ford production and earnings were going straight up in 1918, it was not a good year, and Wall Street was standing still. No wonder Wall Street wanted to get into something that was going up."

Prentiss declared the Ford enterprise could be refinanced, he bought out for a billion dollars with common stock alone. Fifty million shares could be sold, he estimated, with the public entirely willing to buy them.

General Motors, stood in the front rank in the scramble of bankers to buy the Dodge Bros. firm two years ago, Prentiss disclosed. It was his understanding, he said, that J. P. Morgan and company acted in the bidding.

The prize was carried off by Clarence Dillon and company.

David Friday, of Washington, political economist of note, computed the value of Ford stock in 1913 as $12,000 a share, or $2,500 more than the value claimed by the Couzens group, and $8,500 more than the value conceded by the government.

The enterprise as a whole was worth $240,000,000 at that time, Friday contended.

"It was regarded as an eighth wonder of the world" Friday said. "Ford had slashed prices repeatedly, bringing them down from about $1,000 to $600."

"At this price he was making a profit of $145 per car."

"It looked altogether dangerous for any other company to go into his field. I could not see how Ford could suffer from competition for a number of years."

Fred Geis, Detroit accountant, will testify tomorrow.

Ah! that's what we would like to know.

SITUATION IS GRAVE, REPORTS U. S. ADMIRAL

are evacuating that town, Admiral Williams reported. This is the first evidence of an exodus of the Japs.

Admiral Williams said that the situation in Shanghai is quiet for the moment, but that Ichang and Foochow both report a large troop movement toward the mouth of the Yangtze river. This, officials here believed, means that the battle between the northern and Cantonese armies in China for control of Shanghai is imminent.

The arrival of a Punjabi unit in Shanghai has caused Chinese objections and furnished the agitators with fresh fuel for the smoldering fire of foreign hatred, the Admiral added.

The 1,200 marines now at San Diego are expected to sail within the next 48 hours for the far east and 250 men are now being recruited for the 15th American infantry in China, to sail from New York on March 8. They will build the regiment up to full war strength.

The greatest concern of the United States at the moment is for the safety of Americans and their property, it was said at the state department.

The department let it be known it has no immediate plan of sending a civilian mission to China. Such a mission would encounter the same difficulties that confront the state department through lack of a responsible Chinese faction with which to deal, it was pointed out.

Leader Protests Against Troops
Special Cable Dispatch

LONDON, Feb. 2.—"A settlement can be reached at once if there is a cessation of the war atmosphere and the war neurosis created by the menacing concentration of British troops at Shanghai."

This was the substance of a cablegram sent by Eugene Chen, Chinese Nationalist leader, to the Independent Labor party here today. Chen declared he had informed the British representatives that Cantonese troops will not occupy the international settlement at Shanghai. He added:

"The object of these war-like measures is said to be to guard against British lives and property being put in jeopardy by the seizure of the international settlement in Shanghai. If this is the real aim and purpose of the British concentration there ought not to be any longer any anxiety or fear in view of the statements I have made to the British representatives."

The British foreign office today denied that negotiations between Chen and the British charge, O'Malley have broken down. The negotiations will continue, the statement said, but they have taken a new turn in view of Chen having raised the question concerning the landing of British troops in China.

Dispatches from Hankow state that Chen has refused to sign an agreement with the British because the British are concentrating troops at Changhai and that if he did sign it would appear to be an action under stress.

It is believed here that O'Malley has been instructed to renew negotiations with Chen in an effort to explain away the concentration of British troops at Shanghai.

The British cabinet met late today to discuss its position which is admitted to be grave because the consular body at Shanghai is standing firm on its position that England cannot land troops in the international settlement at Shanghai which belongs to all the powers and not to Great Britain alone.

The landing of the English troops is thus opposed by both factions of the Chinese and by the other powers.

Over two hundred and forty firemen, not movie subs, are seen in this production and in one scene forty-three pieces of apparatus are seen in action.

Charles Ray and May MacAvoy are the featured players in the film which took more than a year and a half to produce.

A clever plot is written and this gives the movie public a chance to see the modern fire equipment in action.

Cooper witnessed a pre-view of the picture in New Orleans in October.

Monday night will be "Lions' Night" and all Lions of Richmond who are planning to go have been asked to get in touch with Art Faris, secretary of the local club.

Thursday night is "Kiwanis night" and a group of local Kiwanians plans to see the show which will be preceded by a dinner dance at the Clift Hotel.

The picture will be shown in Richmond some time in the near future.

Your City and Ours —The Same

In the modern theory of business, every transaction must be a fair exchange with mutual gain.

The operation of The Mechanics Bank, home-owned and home-managed, is in harmony with this idea because it seeks to grow with the community rather than to gain a profit out of proportion to the co-operation it can give.

Its officers and directors are Richmond men able and willing to work with you and for you at all times. They acknowledge a mutuality of interest centered in your community—and theirs.
